ココナッツサンデー！

Coconut Sunday is an artist group from Thailand known for their unique creations in the genres of Electronic and Synthpop. They have consistently released new music, with a standout image featuring a female lead vocalist who plays the keytar, a signature element of the band. Their music distinctly reflects their identity, with vocals that blend sweetness, fun, and melancholy all in one. They first gained wide recognition in 2012 with the release of their single "Bang Wela" (The Wall), a song that captures a sense of loneliness and successfully climbed to the top of national radio charts. Coconut Sunday has garnered several accolades, including a nomination for Best New Artist at the 29th Season Awards and winning the national Chang Music Contest Season 3, making them a band to watch in the Thai music scene.

Coconut Sunday have worked with some of the country's top artists, producers, and sound engineers on many songs, such as Danai Thongsinthusak (Producer) [In the name of Love, Get up and Go!], Tunwa Ketsuwan (Mixing & Mastering) [Slap me] Woody-Sarawut Phonpitaksuk, the first and only Thai person to receive a Grammy Award in the Mastering Engineering category (Mixing & Mastering) for the song Phawana (Pray), Keng Thachaya Prathumwan, Thailand Superstar, (featuring) on the song 'PiNK', B KING, Thailand famous Rapper, (featuring) on the song Broken Leg and Full Moon (under SanamLuang Music label, Gmm grammy, in 2018) Coconut Sunday has continuously created works since 2012 until the present, currently under BLIV LABEL. Their goal is to become an international artist.

The band has also toured with "Tony Phee", the creator of the timeless hit "Kon Tee Saen Dee", and performed in Japan over five times across thirteen stages. In Thailand, they've been a part of many music festivals.

Coconut Sunday made history as the first Thai band to perform in the Metaverse. Thanks to their unique sound, they were selected to create the theme song for the renowned Japanese-style music festival in Thailand, Muuji Festival, in both 2023 and 2024.

The band has also released a special mini-album in collaboration with Tsubasa Mori, the artist behind "Suberidai", the theme song of the hit anime "Reborn". The project was digital released by Warner Music Japan and produced by a renowned Japanese producer Hideyuki "DAICHI" Suzuki, who has worked with popular artists like LiSA and the idol group AKB48.

Coconut Sunday performed a series of launch concerts for the mini-album with Tsubasa Mori, playing five shows in Japan in late November and early December 2023. They performed at two stages of the Otomusubi Festival in Nagaoka and hosted the album launch concert at Shinjuku ReNY, a famous live house in Tokyo, on November 28, 2023. They also promoted the album on tour, ending at the well-known Shibuya REX live house, concluding the tour with great success.

Coconut Sunday and Tsubasa Mori are the opening act for the Muuji Festival 2024 together at the main stage as they are the Festival's song theme representative. They also performed a full show at "Don't Think Fest!" organized by their music label, BLIV LABEL, to launch their mini-album "Don't Think!" in Thailand on February 17, 2024, at the iconic art venue ChangChui Creative Park in Bangkok, with special guest appearances from fellow artists.

After the release of the "Don't Think!" mini-album and tours in Japan and Thailand, Coconut Sunday and Tsubasa Mori continued their collaboration, starting with the single "AGAIN AND AGAIN" which was on the charts for over eight weeks, reaching the Top 5 on the CAT50 chart by CATRADIO. And their latest synthpop track "ONLY WE CAN SEE", was released on November 7, 2024 and was on CAT Radio's chart, soared from new entry at 48th to 6th in a week.

Jess, the lead vocalist of Coconut Sunday, also traveled to Japan to shoot the music video for "AGAIN AND AGAIN" and record both songs.

Coconut Sunday was recently selected for support by the Music Exchange project to perform at two music festivals in Japan in December 2024.

This project, initiated by the Thai Music Industry Steering Subcommittee in collaboration with the Creative Economy Agency (Public Organization) (CEA) under Thailand's soft power policy, aims to expand the market base for Thai artists abroad and promote Thailand's image globally.

Coconut Sunday has recently performed at the following music festivals and live houses in Japan in December 2024:

Shimokitazawa Nite Festival, Japan – December 7th, 2024

Mona Records, SHIMOKITAZAWA, December 9th, 2024

Chikamichi, SHIMOKITAZAWA, December 10th, 2024

Asian Music Spree 2024, Japan – December 14, 2024
